Bathroom Planning Checklist

The bathroom is one of the most used rooms in the house. Before you start planning, you may want to consider whether your bathroom is going to be a luxurious retreat or an efficient use of space for the family. Many elements need to be considered in the planning phase, and we recommend you seek advice from a professional. Their expertise will ensure your new bathroom not only has the look and feel you're after, but is also functional. Start the process by using this checklist to ensure you've got everything covered.
